The Companion Track is a response to appeals for help from spouses in stressed marriages who seek someone to accompany them in their BreakThrough journey. Its launch enables you or another Companion, to pastorally accompany a participant as they progress through the BreakThrough course.

Because you are familiar with our SmartLoving marriage ministry, we invite you to prayerfully consider registering for the Breakthrough Companion Training, or forwarding this email to someone who would make a great Companion.

If you cannot attend but are interested in becoming a Companion, please still register for the webinar as we can send you the recordings and keep you informed of future Companion training.

More Information:

The BreakThrough Companion Track provides the opportunity for a spouse that finds themselves in a stressed marriage, to participate through the online BreakThrough course whilst being accompanied by a compassionate and faith-filled Companion. Participants access the BreakThrough lesson videos and reflection activities through the online learning platform, in the privacy of their own home.

They then meet with a Companion after each lesson to unpack the content and receive prayer and practical support.
